intend to finish the building, and commence the pottery as soon as possible, as it is much wanted in this vicinity.

You will, perhaps, think it strange that situated as comfortable as I was in Canada, I should come off here and endure such hardships and privations—but I had considered everything maturely before I offered to soil there, and concluded that I could do better for my family by coming hither. This country is rising and going shead while Canada is retrograding both in the value of property and in morals. Canada is daily filling up with Tories and Orangemen of the basest sort—Reformers are selling themselves to a corrupt Administration; man can piace but little confidence in the integrity of his fellow. I have not yet had one moment of regret on account of leaving a country so situated.

There is a spirit of enterprise here, and an improvement in education and morals, which causes a constant flood of limingration into these parts, and consequently a rapid rise in the value of property. This norther part of Illinois is considered more healthy than farther south. It has been sickly here for the last two seasons, but that is sacribed to the extreme drouth of the Summers, as it was not so before. The prevailing complaint is very seldom fatal.

I think we shall like the piace when we get properly settled; and although it will take some time to get fixed as comfortable as we were in Typer Canada, yet, when it is done all will be new and substantial; and I chose rather to take a new place and make the improvements myself than to buy improvements that did not suit my taste. As to education, there is a fourishing seminary 15 miles distant, where we can send our hows to finish their education.
